Several members of the First Methodist Church have responded to the loss of their church in a fire last Saturday by volunteering to help in any way possible during the past week, the Rev. Joseph Wagner, pastor, said.

The schedule for services Sunday includes a 9:30 a.m. Sunday School service for all children at the high school cafeteria.

The church's education building is not expected to be ready for Sunday School until April 7. Music for the first service Sunday will be provided by the Chancel choir.

The pastor's sermon topic for both Sunday services will be "The Ending that Doesn't End." Music will be at the 10:30 a.m. service provided by the Chancel choir.

The official board of the church will meet at 7:30 p.m. Monday in the parish house basement.

Between 10 and 15 women have been working to clean the education building. Some of these women have said they would hire cleaning work done in their home, but were glad to do it for the church, the Rev. Mr. Wagner said.

Other parishioners have given desks and typewriters to use and some have volunteered secretarial help.

The church records containing the names of the church members, their baptisms and marriage records were saved in their bound form and were put on separate cards by office help this week.

It has been a display of the type of unity and working together of the church membership that is not normally as evident as it used to be, the Rev. Mr. Wagner said.

CAPE GIRARDEAU - Three Negro youths have been arrested by police here for investigation of an armed robbery of the Union Bus Depot of a little more than $100 at 9 p.m. Friday.

The youths were arrested about two hours after two Negro men wearing face masks held up a woman attendant at the bus station.

One of the men reportedly held a shotgun on the attendant, Mrs. Marjorie Kelley. They reportedly tried to take her purse after cleaning out the cash register.

A fourth youth is being sought in connection with the robbery, police chief Irvin E. Beard said.

The three youths who all list St. Louis addresses are identified as Clyde Lee Hall, 19, David Talton, 19, and Robert A. Brown, 18.

They were apprehended at 11 p.m. Friday near the intersection of Independence and Keller streets after police received a call regarding suspicious persons in the area. The subjects ran when approached by police.

Combat Pilot Praises F111 Capability

SAIGON (AP) - A U.S. Air Force senior pilot who flew the new F111 in its first combat missions over North Vietnam said today the performance of the controversial fighter-bomber is outstanding.

"I was a little skeptical at first because of the electronic sophistication of the various systems that have to work together," Maj. Charlie Arnet, 32, of New Richmond, Ohio, told The Associated Press. "My impressions before were that the failure rates would be high and the maintenance problems numerous."

But, Arnet said, "It proves to be as easy to maintain as any other modern fighter. All of the systems have demonstrated an extremely high degree of reliability. It proved my impressions invalid."

Arnet's impressions were formed just before last September when he went into training in the swing-wing F111s at Nellis Air Force base in Nevada to prepare for the first combat missions over North Vietnam.

Prior to his new venture, Arnet logged 800 hours in the F4 shots fired. He was treated and Phantom fighter-bombers, in released from city hospital and ending 75 combat missions over North Vietnam between September and December of 1965.

In all, he has almost 4,000 hours flying time in his 12 years son, 50, of $4 on a St. Louis in the Air Force. The robber hit Johnson 180 hours in the F111 of which on the head with his pistol just 177 were in training and three in before police came on the scene.

East Prairie Man Wounded by St. Louis Police

ST. LOUIS (AP) - An East Prairie, Mo., man was wounded by police Friday night as he fled from the scene of a hold-up.

Melvin Tripp, 23, was hit in the right side by one of three F4 shots fired. He was treated and Phantom fighter-bombers, in released from city hospital and ending 75 combat missions over North Vietnam between September and December of 1965.

Police said Tripp was accused of robbing Raymond Johnson, 50, of $4 on a St. Louis in the Air Force. The robber hit Johnson 180 hours in the F111 of which on the head with his pistol just 177 were in training and three in before police came on the scene.

Second F111 Crashes

SAIGON (AP) - A second F111 has crashed while on a flight in southeast Asia, a U.S. air force spokesman announced early Sunday.

A two-sentence announcement said: "A second F111A crashed in Southeast Asia yesterday (Saturday) after an in-flight emergency. The two crewmen have been rescued."

The swing-wing supersonic jets went into action in Vietnam last Monday, striking southern areas of South Vietnam.

New Methods of Feeding Cattle for Market Outlined on Tour of Farms in Area

New methods of feeding and finishing cattle for market were outlined on a tour of two farms in Scott County yesterday.

The farms toured were the Ed Dan Renner farm near Brown Spur junction, and the Joe Schwartz farm near Scott City, south of the Cape Girardeau Municipal airport. The tour was sponsored by the University of Missouri Extension center, Portageville, with David R. Kelley, livestock agent, in charge.

Feed lot demonstrations were explained by Homer Sewell, Columbia, livestock specialist.

The Renner operation is designed to handle as many as 1,000 feeder cattle a year.

The cattle are purchased near the 600-pound weight and fed until they reach 900 pounds in 90 days at a cost of $20,000. The to 100 days. They are then marketed.

Animals are brought to the farm, placed on pasture, and treated before being placed in the feeding lot.

Pens are built with an elevated roofed lot with slatted wood and concrete level floors near the feeding pens. The lot is built in two sections, each side holding 100 cattle. As the animals gain weight they are placed in the second portion until they reach the finished weight.

Under the floors is an eight-foot deep trench. On the outside of the pens are four pits where liquid fertilizer is pumped out into large tanks and spread over the 420 acres farmed by Renner.

The feeding operation is handled by Renner, Elbert Ritchie and two extra hands.

Renner began his operation in 1950 at a cost of $20,000. The animals have a daily weight gain of 1 1/2 to 2 1/2 pounds. They are fed a grain mixture and silage.

He raises most of his silage, averaging 22 tons per acre, but buys all of his corn.

With a turnover in marketing he averages about 25 cents per pound, and buys his animals at an average of 22 cents per pound.

The Schwartz livestock operation is similar to the Renner but the feed lot construction is different and spread out over a greater area.

He is feeding 285 cattle. He is completing two silos to add to two smaller silos.

A 20 foot wide and 70 foot high silo, nearly completed, will hold 17,000-18,000 bushels of corn, of which he raises one-third to one half. The adjoining silo is nearing completion, and measures 24 feet wide and 72 feet in height. It will hold 970 tons silage, all of which he raises on his 660 acres.

The cost of the two new silos will be $15,000. They are built on 30-inch by 10-inch concrete blocks.

The two older silos, built in 1955 when he began operations, are 16 by 60 feet. Each hold 250 tons of silage.

When the cattle are finished, 80 per cent will be choice, and the balance will be graded good. The animals are purchased at weights from 500 to 600 pounds. They are fed until they reach 900 pounds. Mr. and Mrs. Schwartz and one hired man handle the operation.

When finished most of them are sold to a Cape Girardeau packer.

He received cuts over his left eye, and a passenger, Mary Jean Ivy, 19, Memphis, received minor injuries.

Both were taken to the Missouri Delta Community hospital.

In a two-car collision at Cape Girardeau at 12:55 p.m., Billy W. Pitman, 27, Jackson, suffered cuts on the scalp and an arm injury when his 1967 Chevrolet struck a 1966 Chevrolet pickup truck, driven by Erna Schattauer, 39, Pocahontas.

POOR CHARLIE SAYS!

If "Slippery" Dick Nixon leads Johnson in the polls, we Democrats are for sure in one hell of a fix.

Among the benefits of advertising some of the more important are intangible.

Not the least of these is creation of confidence. It is impossible to measure the long range effects of consistent advertising in a trusted medium.

The manager of one of the oldest department stores in the United States has listed public confidence as the major goal of his advertising. He said:

"We do not attempt to assess the immediate results of specific advertisements. We know that decades of advertising in our local newspaper have created public confidence in our company to such an extent that price is a secondary consideration for more of our customers.

"Each advertisement contributes to accumulated prestige. It may be designed to sell shirts on a particular day but it may help to sell skirts a year later."

The sales manager of another large department store expressed the idea differently: "We have experimented with advertising enough to know what happens. When we cut down on our newspaper advertising, our general sales fall. The cost of recuperating losses is much greater than maintaining consistent advertising at a level in keeping with the size of our store."

Even people who do not follow advertising closely are consciously affected by consistent advertising. Consistent advertising is indicative of stability and a company's faith in its own future.

The consumer realizes that he does not have the insight to judge the quality of many products. At first glance two pieces of fabric, or two refrigerators, may seem of equal quality. But hidden differences may be great. The consumer then turns to the store which has gained public confidence through honest advertising.

THE DATE BOOK:

April 1-30, Cancer Crusade Month; April 1, All Fools Day; April 2-7, National Cherry Blossom Festival in Washington, D.C.; April 3, 1513 (455 years ago), Spanish explorer, Ponce De Leon landed in Florida; April 6, 1917 (51 years ago), the United States entered World War I against Germany.

Forming their clubs, women often pledge themselves not to serve any refreshments, and immediately a contest starts to violate the rule. If one woman gets out a few apples, the next woman to entertain the club gets out apples and cookies; the next serves apples, cookies and nuts, etc. It eventually results in a silly row, but the rule not to serve anything to eat is sensible, and all sensible measures are regularly violated.

Always remember that some men looking for work do not want to find it.

POLITICS AND PRICES

The U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics will issue the Consumer Price Index for February on or about Thursday (March 28).

THE NEW Consumer Price Index is certain to show that retail prices of goods and services have increased for the 13th month in a row. Last month's index was 3.4 per cent higher than that of a year earlier. The index has recorded increases of three-tenths of one per cent in each of the past four months.

Economic trends of this sort augur ill for the political party in power, especially in an election year. In abandoning his presidential campaign, Gov. George Romney named inflation as the second most important issue of 1968, behind Vietnam but ahead of crime in the cities. Many politicians would argue that inflation belongs in the number one spot.

Although personal income in the United States keeps climbing, the purchasing power of "non-supervisory" employees (both white-collar and blue-collar) in private businesses has been falling since 1965. This is the conclusion of a Wall Street Journal study based on government earnings, income tax, and Social Security statistics.

The newspaper calculates that the average weekly purchasing power of non-supervisory workers with three dependents dropped from $78.53 to $78.23 between 1965 and 1967. If state and local sales and property taxes were taken into account, the erosion of buying power would look even greater.

Projecting present inflationary trends far into the future, U. S. News & World Report estimates that, by the year 2000, a man's haircut will cost $10, a new car $9,900, and a man's suit $270. Median family income will have increased also, perhaps to $36,000 as against the present $7,800.

AMERICANS can take some comfort from the fact that inflation in other major industrial countries is even more of a problem than it is in the United States. Over the past decade, consumer prices rose by 19 per cent in this country, as compared with increases of between 23 and 60 per cent in Canada, France, Great Britain, Italy, Japan and West Germany.

The record becomes less reassuring when the period of comparison is reduced to the past 24 months. The United States then ranks fifth among the seven countries in terms of annual rate of consumer price increase, and sixth in annual rate of increase of industrial production.

WAR invariably produces inflation. "When people say that the value of the dollar has been more than cut in half in the last 30 years," Edwin L. Dale points out, "they... neglect to mention that 70 per cent of the approximately 130 per cent rise in prices since 1937 was directly caused by World War II, and that 12 per cent resulted from the war in Korea."

By this measure, the Vietnam conflict has inflicted comparatively minor damage on purchasing power. The erosion that has taken place dates from 1965, when the massive American troop buildup in Southeast Asia began.

The interconnected issue of war and high prices is a natural for the party out of power. It helped the Republicans to win control of Congress in 1946 and of both Congress and the White House in 1952. The same party armed with the same issue could again prove a winning combination in 1968.

A man can't be an angel all the time. When the women discover that a man is particularly indulgent as a husband, the men reply that he is hard to get along with in business.

Good people are compelled to smother their resentment at least a dozen times a day.

It's a pleasure to observe that Sikeston's neighbor, Cape Girardeau, has achieved the distinction of becoming an All American City.

Cape is in wonderful company. Among the cities named were Hickory, N.C., and Tupelo, Miss., with which we are familiar and have long held in respect and admiration for civic progress.

The distinction that Look magazine gave Cape will be beneficial to Southeast Missouri. Since cities like people are judged by the neighborhood in which they live, and the company they keep, Sikeston particularly will benefit from close proximity. The glory rubs off.

The fellow who has been away for a decade or more couldn't help but be impressed by the forward strides made by Cape Girardeau.

Insofar as the award is concerned how Cape met the challenges of growth is largely responsible for the selection. Southeast Missouri State College under President Mark Scully is showing a steady, sound growth. To cope with the problems Cape adopted the council-manager form of government under which Sikeston has made such fine progress. Land has been annexed for an industrial park. The city has a new airport. The city raised $1 million for a new hospital. College students joined citizens to provide a new playground and equipment.

All American cities are chosen more for their thrust than for achieving the ultimate in living together productively and peacefully.

Judges look for the spark of honest openness that encourages hometown people to care, to act and to prove.

In the best tradition of the Show Me State, Cape Girardeau has proved to others impressively and conclusively that it is making progress. Our neighbor merits the distinction of being one of the nation's top cities - a bright star amidst the urban blight.

Frank Armstrong says:

"A charity bazaar is a lot cheaper to get into than to get out of!"

Current estimates show that one fourth of the new world oil and gas reserves will be found offshore. The staggering expense of offshore operations has brought about a demand for improved technology. These observations were made at the 42nd Annual Fall Meeting of the Society of Petroleum Engineers.

Washington - Merry - Go - Round

By Drew Pearson

JACK ANDERSON SAYS: General Westmoreland's departure is too long delayed; our intelligence reports in Vietnam have been faulty; we also trained South Vietnamese in West Point tactics, not guerrilla warfare.

WASHINGTON -- The U.S. cannot afford to wait until Gen. William Westmoreland's delayed departure from Vietnam next July to repair his failures. Here are problems that need immediate attention:

INTELLIGENCE GAP -- It is now clear that our policy makers have been basing their war plans upon faulty intelligence. Before the communist Tet offensive, secretary of state Rusk justified his hawkish views by showing intimates a confidential report from Saigon. We have now obtained a copy of this pre-Tet document. It's amazing in its errors, yet it had great influence on Rusk's thinking.

"We have mounting evidence that the southern-born enemy is rapidly losing heart for the war," declared the report. "Once the enemy was able to recruit about 7,000 men per month from the population. Now we believe fewer than 3,500 are recruited; and many of these are boys 14 and 15 years of age. Women are also being recruited where possible in order to release more men to combat."

"No doubt the enemy is trying to offset his recruiting deficiency in the south by increasing his rate of infiltration from the north. While we do not know just how successful he is, we believe he has not sent south enough men to offset his losses during the past several months. We believe the tide has turned and the enemy strength is on the decline. There is evidence of faltering morale and discipline among the southern enemy--the true Viet Cong. There are fewer but significant signs that the northern invader is likewise weakening."

The Tet lunar offensive proved

Just the opposite. Last November we reported that Westmoreland's former intelligence chief, Maj. Gen. Joseph Alexander McChristian, was transferred to Ft. Hood, Tex., because his bosses in the Pentagon didn't like his pessimistic estimates of communist infiltration and recruitment. They preferred to believe lower, more comfortable estimates of enemy strength.

The air force, in particular, disputed McChristian's figures, because they implied that air force bombing was not slowing down the infiltration from the north.

PESSIMISM JUSTIFIED

Today intelligence experts generally agree that McChristian was right, that the official figures underestimated enemy strength by as much as 130,000. More pessimistic estimates of the South Vietnamese are being retrained and tet offensive, according to another classified document quoted by the New York Times. Gen. Westmoreland expressed optimism about the Vietnam outcome. Clearly, the communist surprise attack on 36 supposedly "secure" South Vietnamese cities demonstrates that our intelligence system is feeble.

STRATEGIC GAP -- Westmoreland has relied largely upon conventional strategy to defeat an enemy who has refused to fight according to the rules laid out in the West Point textbooks. Many observers feel that the U.S. might have done better if he learned in World War II and studied the Indian wars instead.

More and more, our troops find themselves operating from fortified strongholds into hostile country, just as the cavalry did in Sitting Bull's day. The parallel is heightened by the manner in which the U.S. has shown his gratitude by appointing Westmoreland to be the next army chief of staff, which, though a kick upstairs, is nevertheless a promotion.

NATIONAL HOME IMPROVE-

An Editors Outlook

By Jenkin Lloyd Jones

SEWAGE IS TRASH? AN EFFORT by the people of Iowa to discourage the distribution and sale of utterly dirty books has come a cropper in the U.S. Eighth Circuit Court of Appeals in St. Louis.

On Jan. 14, 1966, a jury in federal court in Sioux City convicted a number of California publishers of nudie magazines and Lesbian books of peddling obscenity through the mails. The following November the trial court sustained a motion of acquittal for some of the defendants and the remaining cases were moved on appeal into the St. Louis court.

Last Feb. 7, Judges Vogel, Gibson and Lay turned all the defendants loose. They cited the First Amendment in quickly exonerating all the nudie magazines themselves in nudist camps. The federal prosecutor in Sioux City had proved that many of the photos were taken outside nudist camps and featured not pantless nature children, but paid models.

AS FAR as the Lesbian books were concerned, the St. Louis judges said this:

"We would agree that these books constitute undoubted trash and have little if any literary value or social importance. They are written, as one author testified, with one purpose in mind -- to sell. They produce high profit for appellants and can be described as distasteful, cheap and tawdry. Yet these facts, alone, do not constitute a crime."

The opinion mentioned that a state judge in California had dismissed an earlier criminal action against the same defendants on the grounds that the books "were not utterly devoid of social value." The defendants had argued that "the frank and sordid discussion of sexual perversion is itself the social importance to be weighed."

The St. Louis judges held that whether there was "social value" or not, "under present legal standards and precedents the books cannot be declared obscene, per se."

THERE ARE two good rules of journalism -- first, find out what you're talking about, and second, quote your sources.

In the interest of No. 1, I wrote to former U.S. Dist. Atty. Donald E. O'Brien in Sioux City and asked him for some samples of the literature. He sent me two books, "The Three-Way Apartment," originally entitled "Call Her Lesbian" and written by one Richard E. Geis, and "The pen name of Peggy Swenson, and "Two Women in Love," originally entitled "The Rape of Antia Doran" and written by one Sam Merwin Jr. under the penname of Stanley Curson.

Here the second good rule in journalism breaks down. It is impossible to quote from these books and remain within any reasonable boundaries of taste. You might get a rough idea, however, from these sketchy, steam-cleaned synopses:

"THREE-WAY" involves a Hollywood artist's model and Lesbian who visits a married girl friend, seduces her repeatedly and spends the rest of her time amusing herself by getting two hit-or-miss couples in the apartment drunk and in the mood to trade partners. The couplings and perversions are described in clinical detail. "Two Women" is the saga of a Lesbian prostitute and her friends in which everybody is reduced, it seems, (and here I do quote) "to a sodden, throbbing, whispering mass of love-camp flesh." Happily, this epic ends on a note of triumph. The lady beds down a frightened homosexual actor with heart trouble so successfully that he leaves her a uranium mine. At least that's the way I think it was. The proofreading was hurried and there are a number of puzzling transposed lines.

THE ST. LOUIS case is filed as The United States of America vs. Milton Luros, Sun Era, American Art Agency, Parliament News and London Press. The United States certainly lost.

Perhaps America can take the undress magazines, phony nudists included. But the acquittal of the book publishers means that our country is in for a cloudburst of unrestrained pornography. There will apparently be no protection. The appellate court has thrown a shielding arm around the most degenerate filth.

About "Three-Way" one of the learned St. Louis judges remarked, piously:

"The mere suggestion of 'wife swapping' is offensive to me. However, I cannot say that the book has passed the limits prescribed in Section 31(a). My personal offense is not the text. There is a possible 'moral' to the story, perhaps even a psychological lesson that may be of value to marriage counselors."

Oh, come on! There is a difference between trash and sewage, as any trash man knows.

SEMI-ANNUAL COMMON-WEALTH GAME FISH TOURNAMENT, Apr. 1-Sept. 30, San Juan, Puerto Rico.

Once upon a time there lived a man who had a maddening passion for baked beans. He loved them but they always had a very embarrassing and somewhat odorous reaction on him. Then one day he met a girl and fell in love, when it was apparent that they would marry he thought to himself, she is such a sweet and gentle girl, she will never go for this kind of carrying on. So he made the supreme sacrifice -- and gave up beans. They were married shortly thereafter.

Some months later his car broke down on the way home from work, and since they lived in the country he called his wife and told her he would be late as he had to walk home. On the way he passed a small cafe and the odor of freshly baked beans was overwhelming. Since he still had several miles to walk he figured that he would work off any ill effects before he got home. So he stopped at the cafe. Before leaving he had eaten 3 large orders of baked beans. All the way home he putted and after arriving felt reasonably safe that he had putted his last. His wife seemed somewhat agitated and excited to see him and exclaimed delightedly, "Darling, I have the most wonderful surprise for dinner tonight." She then blindfolded him and led him to the chair at the head of the dining table. He seated himself and just as she was about to remove the blindfold the telephone rang. She made him vow not to touch the blindfold until she returned, then American home." Sponsor: U.S. Home Improvement League, Mrs. Ann H. Tamers, Exec. Secy., 507 Fifth Ave., New York, NY 10017

He took the napkin from his lap and vigorously fanned the air about him. Things had just returned to normal when he felt another urge coming on, so he shifted his weight to the other leg and let go again. This was a true prize winner! While keeping his ear on the conversation in the hall he went on like this for 10 minutes until he knew the phone farewell indicated the end of his loneliness and freedom. He placed his napkin on his lap and folded his hands on top of it, and smiling contentedly at himself, was the picture of innocence. When his wife returned, apologizing for taking so long, she asked if he had peeked and he of course assured her he had not. At this point she moved the blindfold and there was his surprise -- 12 dinner guests seated around the table for a "Happy Birthday Party."

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

CRISES IN BLACK waterfront battles will snarl Presidential Race
NEW YORK -- A scalding pre-season sun, unsuitably hinting of a swiftly onrushing long hot summer, baked the longshoremen's union headquarters as one of its executive leaders murmured dolefully:

"They ought not try to cool off Newark by heating things up here across the river." In part, hat's the story behind the $3 million-a-day dockman's strike. In part that's a pithy analysis of our times. In part, those words are the beginning of a story which will explode in headlines during the final weeks of the presidential campaign.

All the famed personality, the man in the street, knows is that the powerful International Longshoremen's Assn. (ILA), AFL-CIO, crippled New York's vast harbor on March 11. Soon 110 freighters were tied up. Losses zoomed into the millions of dollars. Truck fleets and railroad boxcars backed up on lines across the land.

ILA President Ted Gleason and Executive Vice President John Bowers thus served notice on the bi-state Waterfront Commission of N.Y. Harbor that the dockworkers did not want the registry of men "licensed" to work at harbor piers opened to permit 600 longshoremen and 150 freight checkers from the New York area to join the ranks.

The pressure for "opening" had come from the Port of New York where shippers claimed a shortage of men willing to work in "the hole," down in the holds of the ships.

Many parts of Newark are still charred from last year's summer turning. Many of those who rioted -- or revolted -- are still are jobless. Many stevedores and shipping companies report they have a labor shortage because the New York dockers don't cross the Hudson to accept the jobs.

So some forces in Newark pressured for the opening of the register. Thus they'd get their manpower without paying an extra $8 a day per man for longshoremen coming from New York City.

And it would give some of the minorities a chance to work for more than $120 a week. So the bi-state commission ruled that the register would be opened on April 9. Applicants could come to an armory in the ghetto area on March 19. They came in droves -- 800 to be exact. Among them were large contingents of Negroes and Puerto Ricans.

Reflecting on the statistics, the photos and the pressures, one policy-making ILA official said, "They have a problem taking care of their minorities over there, but we sure have the same problem here. The big U.S. Lines soon will move from the Chelsea docks on the Hudson River over to Jersey where they have space for loading by containerization."

In those few words are crammed the heartaches of our times, mer. There are jobless Negro and Puerto Rican longshoremen -- as President of the U.S., anyway?

well as white workers -- on this side of the river. The union fears that opening the register for the whole harbor will bring in a flood of hundreds of black and white dockers from across the river.

At the moment, many of the longshoremen on the New York side are receiving "unemployment checks" from management as part of their guaranteed annual wage through they're not working. And as John Bowers put it, "We want to work for our money." Thus there is bitterness over the admission of more workers -- white and black -- to the roster.

And, though there were among the 800 applicants in Newark many jobless workers born in Spain and Central America, as well as those of Polish, Italian and Irish extraction, the union's position will be interpreted in many circles as anti-black.

Which raises another issue. On docks all along the Atlantic and Gulf coasts, there are scores of thousands of black workers among the 110,000 ILA members. Many are high school, even college men. Many are ploughing through to leadership. No national ILA leader wants to be marked as anti-Negro.

The union fought back because there soon will be fewer jobs. Automation has come to the waterfront. There may be no more books. On the piers automation means containerization. Remember the word, You'll hear it again and again when things smash wide open next October when union contracts expire.

Containerization of cargo means the shipping of waterborne freight in large sealed vans. These are loaded and unloaded away from the docks. This will slash the amount of work which can be handled by longshoremen.

Thus a van can be swung onto the ship and off in one operation. Thousands of dockworkers handling millions of separate places of cargo won't be needed in a decade.

The ILA is doing what comes naturally. It is preparing to hold the line. No natural longshoremen's leader can survive if he doesn't fight in the old tradition.

Deadline for that fight is Sept. 30 when the contracts covering ports from Maine to Galveston and up to the Great Lakes expire. The union and the shipping associations were scheduled to begin (what is now the vogue) early negotiations on April 1.

It just isn't happening. Newark got in the way. Now it's a real dockside melee. Everybody's in it, governors, the waterfront commission, the port authority, union, stevedores, shippers and the minorities.

So an Atlantic and Gulf strike in early October -- just weeks, perhaps days before the election -- now seems unavoidable to many observers.

Even a short strike could logjam expected to simmer after the heartaches of our times, mer.

Dogs Drop Opener; Knox Steps Down Spiezio Lifts Cards

Charleston Next

ORAN -- Wayne Graham got his first baseball victory of the season yesterday afternoon, holding Sikeston in its opening season game for a 3-0, six-hit victory, Oran's second of the season.

Graham scattered six hits in the seven-inning game. His teammates capitalized on four errors and a pair of hits to push across three runs.

Oran opened up after Sikeston went down in the first inning by pushing across its first run on a pair of errors and then added a pair of assurance tallies in the third on a hit and a pair of errors.

Sikeston out-hit the Eagles but the inexperienced and nervousness of its young starting lineup proved costly on defense but offense also. A pair of base running mistakes cost the Dogs a pair of runs.

Oran opened defense of its district championship earlier this week by noosing out Kelly 9-5. Sikeston's six hits were absorbed by three players, who collected a pair, Mike Garner, Stan Sorrells and Pat Hart collected the safeties.

Rodney LeGrand and Steve Blattel banged out the Eagles only base hits. LeGrand's was the only extra base smash-a double.

Coach N. P. McDaniel used three pitchers, all sophomores with the latter -- Les Shatzley being the most effective, pitching two hitless innings.

Ed Throop was the losing hurler, allowing one hit but three unearned runs in four innings of work. He had control problems.

Steve Counts hurled one inning, allowing one hit -- LeGrand's double.

Sikeston is still minus its ace pitcher and infielder Bruce Farris who is ailing and is reported recovering fast and is expected to be ready for work during the district tournament at Sikeston later next month.

Sikeston is at Charleston next Wednesday and then plays host to an unnamed opponent Friday.

Ex-Hawk Haunting

St. Louis Squad

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The St. Louis Hawks, who ran away with the Western Division title, suddenly and surprisingly find themselves being run out of the National Basketball Association playoffs.

The Hawks stood only one game from elimination today after the San Francisco Warriors rebounded from a disastrous third quarter and squirmed to a 108-107 victory Friday night in Oakland.

Third place San Francisco, which finished 13 games behind the Hawks in regular season play, now holds a 3-1 game lead in the best-of-seven division semifinal series. The fifth game will be Sunday, St. Louis.

Los Angeles, which took second in the West four games behind St. Louis, continued to move along as expected, taking a 3-1 lead over fourth-place Chicago by beating the Bulls 93-87 in Chicago. The Lakers can wrap up their set Sunday night in Los Angeles.

In the American Basketball Association, Kentucky kept things much closer with a 94-86 triumph over Minnesota in Louisville, evening their best-of-five series at 2-2.

Frank Robinson finally got the Baltimore Orioles off the floor and then landed flat on his back -- leaving Manager Hank Bauer in limbo for several anxious hours.

Robinson, the 1966 Triple Crown winner who was seriously injured last season in a baseliner mishap, ran a collision course with teammate Chico Fernandez Friday night as the Orioles bowed to Boston 5-3 at Miami, Fla., for their fourth straight exhibition setback.

The Baltimore superstar, whose first inning homer ended a string of 30 innings during which the Orioles had scored just one unearned run, collided with shortstop Fernandez under a pop fly in the third and was forced to leave the game. However, preliminary reports indicated Robinson was not hurt badly. He was treated with ice.

Oakland's Ramon Webster smashed two long homers, driving in five runs as the A's ended Minnesota's three-game winning streak 7-0 at Orlando, Fla.

Johnny Callison's tie-breaking homer in the fifth led Philadelphia to a 9-4 victory over Cincinnati at Clearwater, Fla., extending the Phils' winning string to four games.

Cesar Gutierrez scored from first base on pitcher Frank Linzy's eighth inning double when Cleveland catcher Ken Suarez dropped the throw to the plate, giving the San Francisco Giants a 6-5 decision over the Indians at Phoenix, Ariz.

Sheetz was the losing hurler in both games, coming in the final inning each time.

The Tigers took a 6-0 lead in the nightcap after two innings, but Trinity rallied behind the hitting of Pat Clumey, Bill Roberson and Frank Kimball to tie it up at 7-7 in the eighth, then won it in the 10th.

Home runs proved K-State's downfall at Oxford, Miss. The Rebels got a three-run homer from Lee Moore in the first inning and easily won the opener. In the second game, pitcher Buddy Brown slammed a two-run homer and Whitey Adams hit a solo shot to give Mississippi an early 3-0 lead.

K-State's Barry Herron homered to help the Wildcats get back in the game, but the Kansans were never able to catch up. It was KSU's fourth consecutive loss to Mississippi.

A double in the 13th inning by Phil Rose knocked home the winning run for Houston as the Cowpokes' strategy backfired. With the score tied 3-3 Oklahoma State walked hard-hitting Tom Paciorek with two out and nobody on base. Then Rose slammed his double and the game was over.

Oklahoma State led 3-0, then sent their top pitcher, Mike Richardson, to the mound. But he gave up all of Houston's four runs and took the defeat.

The newspaper publishers of Southeast Missouri will visit Sikeston next Friday and Saturday for their regular annual meeting. Sikeston will be glad to welcome them to the "hub" of the great Southeast and hopes they will enjoy every minute of their stay here.

The local Red Cross chapter has sent for an instructor to assist in making surgical dressings for the soldiers, but it is not known just when the instructor will arrive. All who wish to take the course of instruction will please see Mrs. Ranney Applegate. The price of the course is $2.

One of the big features of the Southeast Missouri Sunday school convention, to be held in Sikeston April 9-11, will be the music under the leadership of Clara Harding, an excellent soloist and musical director.

The Parish Motor Co. reports the following sales the latter part of last week: A seven-passenger Haynes touring car to Judge J. A. Finch; a four-door Haynes roadster to C. M. Smith, Jr., a five-passenger Vette touring car to E. K. Stucker; a second-hand five-passenger Marmon touring car to R. C. Buell, and a second-hand Ford to Marion Clark.

Leonard McMullin and Hubert Boyer will go to Memphis Friday to make final arrangements for the purchase of the airplane which will be brought to Sikeston in the near future. The three-place plane will be used for commercial flying here, and for instructing students in flying.

Unusual interest was shown in the city election on Tuesday when a total poll of 1,584 votes were cast by voters of Sikeston in electing one of three candidates for the police judgeship, choosing one of three men seeking the collectorship, deciding between two candidates for city attorney, electing four aldermen, seating three unopposed officers and at the same time re-electing two members to places on the school board. N. E. Fuchs was re-elected mayor and Walter Kendal was again made city marshal. P. H. Stevenson, present city clerk, was elected city assessor. In the race for police judge Jos. W. Myers had a margin of 83 votes over Judge Wm. S. Smith. W. E. (Cousin Ed) Hollingsworth, ran far ahead in the race for collector and Roger Bailey, present city attorney, won that race. One new alderman, Chas. Hebbeler in Ward 2, was elected. The three re-elected were: T. A. Wilson in Ward 1; Judson Boardman in Ward 3; and Clint H. Denman in Ward 4. F. E. Mount and J. F. Cox, the two men officially in the school board race, were again placed on the board by voters.

Funeral services for Mrs. Lily May Wright Hawkins, who died in Sikeston, Sunday, were held from the family home Tuesday afternoon.

Gerald Ferguson of Sikeston, who enlisted in the United States Navy from the Poplar Bluff recruiting station some time ago, has completed a six-months special course in the navy machinist school at Hampton Roads, Va., it has been announced.

Farm Labor Bulletin

This is Farm Labor Bulletin #2 and we hope that all places of public access receiving this bulletin will display each new bulletin upon arrival.

Cold wet weather over much of the state has slowed spring farming operations. 119 year-round and 59 seasonal agricultural openings were on hand as of March 25. 30 year-round and 18 seasonal placements were made last week.

Marshall reports sufficient applicants for the new Farm Hand Training Class starting April 1. We welcome John Heller, new

Farm Placement Representative for the Chillicothe office area, SOUTHEAST

Sikeston: 202 South Kingshighway - Telephone: Granite 1-2731

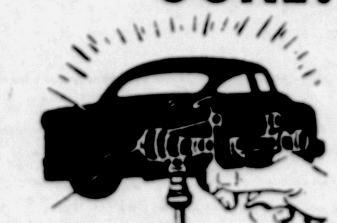

Sikeston area orders for year-round farm hands continue to exceed supply. Wages generally $1.25 per hour, and $50 per week and up, most with housing and bonus incentives. Family group of eleven workers moved into Louisiana strawberry harvest. Majority of pre-planting land preparation completed before weather closed in last week. Kenneth: 405 St. Francis Street - Telephone: 888-4518

Due to good spring-like weather, until the rain came, farming activities have been real good over the entire county. The demand for farm labor is being supplied at this time. The strawberry acreage will be up some from last year. Most of the labor for this crop will be supplied by local labor with some coming from Pemiscot County, a crew of 30 is being recruited from Texas at this time. Wages for year-round farm hands will average $50 to $60 weekly and $1.25 per hour. Most farmers have applied chemicals and fertilizer and recent showers have made the wheat and cover crops look real good. Cape Girardeau: 231 North Main Street - Telephone: Edgewater 5-6666

Demand for year-round farm families continues to exceed the available supply. Have 6 openings - wages $45 to $60 per week. Qualified farm workers are urged to contact this office at once. Also 2 openings for single farm hands - wages $35 to $50 per week plus room, board and laundry. Demand for day workers continues light. West Plains: 111 Walnut Street - Telephone: 256-3158

Area received over one-half inch of rain this week. Recruitment activity still remains slow for applicants willing to relocate, for year-round farm work. Have referred dairy hand to Springfield area, and farm hand to Maryville area.

Ann Landers

Brainy Girl Dislikes Her Challenge

Dear Ann: I have an unusual problem. Too many brains. It all started when I was in the 7th grade. The teachers decided I was too smart for the 7th grade so they promoted me to the 8th grade because all my friends were in the 7th. I did well academically but I was unhappy emotionally.

When it came time to choose my 9th grade subjects, I wanted to take a business course, but my counselor and my mother decided I HAD to go to college so they forced me to take subjects to prepare me.

Now I have to choose 10th grade subjects and we're fighting again. I told them I did not ask to be put in the genius class and that I hate algebra and trigonometry. I've already had work that some of the other kids won't get until 11th and 12th grade. Why won't they let me take the business course? I want to be a secretary, not a math professor. Now I know why kids drop out. -- RELUCTANT MISS EINSTEIN

Dear Miss E.: For a girl who has all those brains you are plenty dumb. Your mother and your counselor want you to stretch your mind to reach -- to exercise your cerebral muscles, girl! If you want to be a secretary, fine, but don't pass up the chance to have at least a couple of years of college. You will be a better secretary for it -- and a better educated woman.

Dear Ann Landers: Ellen and I were married two years ago after a stormy courtship. My older brother used to date Ellen and when they broke up it was a mess -- ugly stories were circulated by both sides.

When Ellen and I married, my brother was in the service and out of the country, so that solved the problem of whether or not to have him at the wedding. At family get-togethers they barely speak.

Now my brother has announced that he is going to be married and he wants me to be his best man. Ellen says she will not attend the wedding and that if I had the proper respect for her I wouldn't go either. I don't want to hurt my wife, but if I turn my brother down it will be the end of our friendship and my mother will be heart sick. What is the right thing to do? -- NICK

I want to go to his wife and beg her forgiveness. They say you accept. If Ellen doesn't fession is good for the soul, want to attend the wedding, and my soul is badly in need of repair. Please say yes. -- RIVER

Thousands of Russians Mourn For Gagarin

MOSCOW (AP) — After a solemn procession past thousands of tearful Russians and a minute of silence broken by an artillery salute, the ashes of cosmonaut Yuri A. Gagarin were interred today in the Kremlin Wall facing Red Square.

Valentina Tereshkova, the first woman in space, wiped tears from her cheeks as Communist Party Secretary Andrei P. Kirilenko said in a eulogy: "Man will eventually reach the planets but will never forget Yuri A. Gagarin."

The ashes of Gagarin and his flying companion, Col. Vladimir S. Seryogin, were borne to the Square from the Central House of the Soviet Army, where hundreds of thousands had paid tribute to the trailblazer of space flight.

In cool, cloudy spring weather the military funeral column wound its way toward Red Square.

Gagarin's sobbing widow, Valentina, 33, kissed and patted his portrait just before urns containing the ashes were placed into eye-level niches in the wall, the resting place of Soviet heroes. The niches were then covered with black marble plaques bearing each man's name.

Gagarin's daughters, Yelena, 9, and Galya, 7, were not visible in the television broadcast of the interment. Reporters in Red Square were not allowed near the wall.

Both men were killed Wednesday in the crash of a MIG trainer.

On April 25, 1942, he married Lucille Morris, who survives. Also surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Carol Estes, Waterloo, Ill., and Connie Jo Shipman, Bloomfield; his mother, Mrs. Inez Shipman, Bloomfield; one brother, Jim Shipman, Dexter, and two grandchildren.

If You Were the Judge

Beatle Damage Not Casualty Tax Loss

When the Smiths stored away their winter apparel in a cedar chest for the summer, they didn't realize that they were providing refreshments for a beetle ball. While they found no evidence of wine or dancing girls, when they opened the chest in the fall, there was plenty of evidence that an orgy had been going on in the chest all summer. Beetles had gotten into it and, apparently, had been feasting wildly on the winter clothing all summer.

A realist, Mr. Smith didn't sit down and cry. Instead, he deducted the value of the destroyed apparel from his taxes as a loss of property resulting from a "casualty" as allowed by the tax law.

"A casualty loss," responded a tax official, "is when the loss occurs from a sudden happening such as an explosion or a fire. It doesn't include the munching of beetles on clothing."

"Sure it does," retorted Mr. Smith. "For little beetles, eating up clothing over one summer is pretty fast work. Considering their size, it certainly was a sudden happening."

The dispute ended up in court.

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you consider the beetle ball and Mr. Smith's loss a casualty so as to entitle him to the deduction?

This is how the judge ruled: NO! The judge held that to be considered a casualty, the loss must be the result of a relatively sudden damage. And, the destruction of the apparel over one summer failed to indicate that the beetles ate fast enough so as to qualify the damage as being sufficiently sudden and a casualty.
